

Don't put your farm at risk with illegal agricultural chemicals

Avoid buying illegal pesticides, keep these tips in mind:

-  Only buy products from reputable stores or distributors.
-  Avoid internet or email deals from unknown suppliers.
-  Never buy pesticides that do not have instructions written in English.
-  Ensure the product has a proper registration label that includes an APVMA/NRA approval number.

Report all information on illegal or unregistered pesticide products to the Australian Pesticides and Veterinary Medicines Authority:

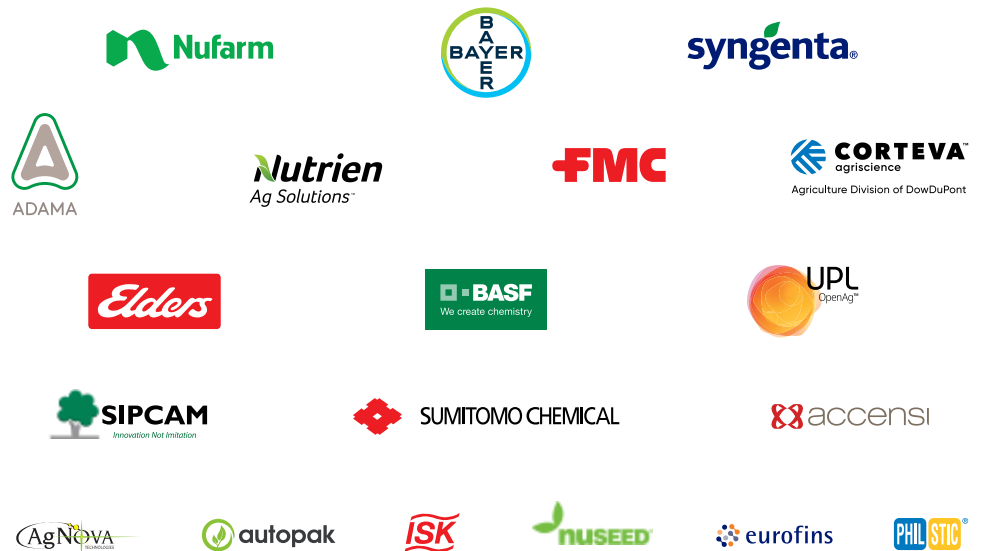

w www.apvma.gov.au
e compliance@apvma.gov.au
t 1300 700 315

Illegal pesticides endanger agriculture, human health, the environment and the economy.

The global trade in illegal and counterfeit pesticides is a significant threat and Australia is at risk. Illegal pesticides are poor quality and may contain dangerous contaminants. Australian farmers risk being ripped off by illegal products that don't work and put Australia's agricultural trade reputation at risk.

Do right by your farm, do right by your local community and do right by Australian agriculture—only purchase legitimate and registered crop protection products.

To ensure you are buying legal, registered and quality products, look to CropLife member companies:

www.croplife.org.au